Curling Rink Purchase Stalled

Another delay in negotiations of the Vulcan District Recreation Centre towards purchase of the Meadowlark curling rink in Calgary, has been caused by disagreement between Calgary factions.

Oxford leaseholds, in its effort to develop the site on which the curling rink is located, for a shopping centre, has had its plans termed unacceptable by Calgary city council for the second time. The disagreement involves an access street on the land concerned.

Pat Walker, chairman of the Recreation Centre, contacted Oxford Leaseholds by phone on Monday of this week and was told another submission will be made at next Monday's council meeting at which he had hopes for more successful results.

School Re-named In Memory Of Esteemed Teacher

Hazel Cameron Elementary School is the new name of the Vulcan Elementary School.

The County of Vulcan School Committee this month officially re-named the big elementary school to honor the memory of the late Miss Cameron, who taught elementary school grades in Vulcan from the 1920's until her retirement in 1962. She died at Sault St. Marie, Ont., on November 16, 1963.

During her many years of teaching Hazel Cameron instilled in her pupils those virtues which she felt were of prime importance — love of one's country and love of learning — and inspired all with her personal creed that work was a rewarding challenge.

A fine singer, she took the lead in training choral groups for festivals and competitions. In 1958 the residents of the community held a testimonial evening in her honor, with many of her former pupils returning to Vulcan for the occasion, and prior to her departure from Vulcan in 1962 a farewell party was attended by many life-long friends from all parts of the province.

Naming of the elementary school in her memory is a fitting recognition of the part Hazel Cameron played in helping shape the outlook and lives of hundreds of pupils of the town and district.

70 Delegates Attend

FWUA Spring Conference Held At Pincher Creek

Approximately 70 FWUA members were present for the Spring Conference, held April 8, in the Masonic Hall, Pincher Creek. Mrs. Mae Huddleston, Pincher Creek, District 12 Director and Mrs. Lola Lange, Claresholm, Alternate Director had charge of the day's proceedings. On behalf of the Town, Mrs. Lewis Allison, wife of Mayor Allison, welcomed the ladies. Mrs. W. Dormer, wife of the United Church minister conducted the morning devotions. During the morning each Local represented gave a report of its year's activities, which were many and varied. A noon luncheon was served by members of the Order of the Eastern Star.

New Riding Club Formed At Vulcan

Keen interest prevailed at a meeting held last Thursday for the purpose of forming a riding club in the Vulcan district. Approximately 40 prospective members met at Danielle's Tire Shop to discuss the possibilities of a Gymkhana and Riding Club.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, John Isley; secretary-treasurer, Mabel Gibson; and directors, Jack Deans, Bob Cutler, Bruce Daniels and Bobby Loose.

Archie Hay of Arrowwood will be in attendance at the next meeting which will be held Thursday, April 30 at 8 o'clock at Danielle's Tire Shop and anyone interested in gymkhana events or a riding club is requested to be present.

Wolfer, Medicine Hat; Mrs. A. Janke, Medicine Hat; Mrs. R. Fano, Hanna; Mrs. S. Sherman, Medicine Hat; Mrs. E. Deimert, Vulcan; Mrs. H. Beckner, Little Plume. Front row: Mrs. D. Schierman, Vulcan; Mrs. J. Elhard, Warner; Mrs. F. Snyder, Calgary; Mrs. A. Leishe, Three Hills; Mrs. H. Bock, Regina. Missing from the photo but present was Mrs. A. Roth, Winnipeg.

Highway Contract Awarded To Gallelli & Sons

Gallelli & Sons Co. Ltd. of Calgary has been awarded a $265,260 contract for asphaltic plant mix course for 10 miles on Highway 2 from Claresholm to Granum, one mile of access road to Granum, 18 miles on Highway 23 from its junction with Highway 24 to south of Blackie, an access road to Blackie and channelization work at the entrance to Vulcan from Highway 23.

Five other tenders were received, ranging from $275,048 to $323,855.

To create a daily ton of newspaper manufacturing capacity in 1963 required a capital investment of $110,000 to $120,000, exclusive of paper and wood supply — about three times as much as prior to World War II.

Soviet secondary schools are graduating 1,500,000 students per year as against 1,300,000 in the United States.

Northwest Canada Convention Of Women's Society Held Here

The 28th Annual Convention of the Women's Society of World Service of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Northwest Canada Branch met at the Vulcan church, April 14-16. The annual theme, Jesus Christ Renews His Church Through Lay Participation and Vocational Dedication, was developed by Mrs. A. W. Roth of Winnipeg, Mrs. A. W. Maetche of Medicine Hat and Mrs. E. W. Riegel of Calgary.

The guest speaker for the entire convention was Miss Myrtle Lefever, missionary from Hong Kong. She gave much information on her 38 years spent first in China and later, after the Communist occupation, in Hong Kong.

The officers for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. F. W. Snyder, Calgary; vice-president, Mrs. J. D. Elhard, Warner; secretary, Mrs. A. R. Leske, Three Hills; treasurer, Mrs. L. Wolfer, Medicine Hat; secretary of spiritual life, Mrs. A. E. Stickel, Didsbury; secretary of missionary education, Mrs. H. H. Bock, Regina; secretary of christian social relations, Mrs. Sieg Schmidt, Edmonton; secretary missionary education for youth, Mrs. H. Beckner, Little Plume; secretary of missionary education for children, Mrs. A. Janke, Medicine Hat; secretary of social responsibility, Mrs. E. E. Deimert, Vulcan.

According to one scientist, the human brain could store about 50 times more information than is contained in the 9,000 volumes of the Library of Congress.

Equalized Assessment High

The "equalized assessment" figures upon which the provincial government's School Foundation Program is based have this year been adjusted to reflect 1957 values and at the same time the Foundation Program mill rate has been dropped from 32 to 26 mills. Net result of these changes is that, generally speaking, towns and villages in the province will pay a greater share of school costs — under both the Foundation Program and supplementary requisitions — than they did under the previous formula. Despite the drop in mill rate, the equalized assessments show such a large increase in 1964 that the actual amounts to be raised for school purposes are also increased.

The equalized assessments are set by the provincial government's Assessment Board. Vulcan's equalized assessment for 1963 was $1,436,176 and for 1964 has been set at $2,074,205 — an increase of 44.4%. Actual taxable assessment in 1963 was $2,186,200 and for 1964 is $2,231,760 — an increase

William Thompson Of Arrowwood Dies At Age 73

William John Brown Thompson passed away in Calgary on April 17, 1964, after a brief illness, at the age of 73.

He was born in Scotland on May 6, 1890, and came to Canada in 1899. He spent his early years in Ontario and came west about 1913 and settled in the Arrowwood district where he has resided ever since.

"Billie" Thompson, as he was known to his neighbors, was actively engaged in farming until his death, and took a keen pride in producing good crops and fine cattle. For many years the "baby beef" produced on his farm topped the Calgary market. His main interests were his family and his farm. He was a long time member of the UGG and the UFA Co-op. In his earlier years he took an active interest in sports and played with the Arrowwood hockey team. He took a keen interest in NHL hockey through each season.

He was predeceased by one son, Bobbie, a sister, Elizabeth and his brother Robert.

He is survived by his loving wife Leita, a son, Ronald at home, a daughter, Kathleen (Mrs. Terence Oldford) of Red Deer, one granddaughter and six grandsons.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. C. McNeill of the Arrowwood United Church at Foster's Garden Chapel, Calgary, with interment at the Mount View Memorial Garden on Monday, April 20.

pallbearers were: Cecil Eaton, M. H. Ward, Neils Ekeland, Walter Blackie, Walter Steiner and Harry Lawson.

Lutheran Guild Names Officers

The Bethel Lutheran Guild held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Howard Hagg of Champion, on April 14. Mrs. Leith Schmeelke gave the Devotional.

Mrs. E. Ruff was elected president, Mrs. Ervin Brown, secretary and Mrs. Eric Brown, treasurer.

Plans were made for a clothing drive and layette for overseas.

A subscription to the magazine, This Day, is to be sent to the Peter Dawson Lodge in Vulcan. A collection will shortly be taken for the Alaskan earthquake victims. The Sunday School children donated $10 to the Lutheran Deaf and Dumb school in Edmonton and also sent several Kid Kits.

Serving of a dainty lunch concluded the afternoon's program.

close with the serving of a delicious lunch by the hostess, Mrs. Elsey Hollister assisted by Mrs. Nelsie Robertson and Miss Margaret Davis.

1964 Town Tax Rate Set At 55 Mills

At the April 13 meeting of the town council, the Town of Vulcan tax rate for 1964 was set at 55 mills — an increase of 5 mills over last year's rate. The greater part of the 'increase' is due to higher school requisitions under the School Foundation Program, stemming from the fact that Vulcan's equalized assessment (set by the Assessment Board of the provincial government) is this year 44.4 per cent higher than it was last year. (Note: See table elsewhere on this page showing comparative figures on equalized assessments and school requisitions).

Breakdown of taxation rates in the town for 1964 is as follows: School Foundation Program 24.2 mills, County of Vulcan Schools Supplementary Requisition 5.8, Alberta Hospitals Act 3.7, Vulcan Municipal Hospital 1.0, Foothills Health Unit 1.8, Municipal (general) 9.2, Municipal (debt) 5.0, Municipal (capital expenditures) 5.3.

The following building permits were approved:

J. W. Crick, 26x37 frame dwelling on Lot 5, Block 19. Contractor, self. Estimated cost $10,000.

A. Broere, 26x36 frame dwelling on Lot 11, Block 16. Contractor, self. Estimated cost $10,000.

Frank Wythe and Pat Walker attended the meeting as representatives of the Vulcan Recreation Centre committee and discussed the possibilities of obtaining winter works grant and/or a centennial grant for the project of moving the Meadowlark curling club building from Calgary to Vulcan. No action was taken pending receipt of advice from Calgary as to the availability of the building.

Other Business

Council authorized Fire Chief Robert Johnston and Councillor George Richardson to attend a meeting at High River regarding Civil Defence fire fighting equipment.

Band Concert Postponed, To Play At Blackie

Officials of the Vulcan County Band Association have postponed their concert, originally scheduled for Monday, April 27. It will now be held sometime in June, at the completion of spring seeding.

This decision was made in view of the appearance of the RCAF military band from Namao at County Central High School auditorium Wednesday of this week. It was felt inadvisable to hold two similar type concerts in the space of five days so the local program will be held over 'till June.

The senior band is active though and will present a concert this Saturday night at the Blackie High School Auditorium. This is sponsored by the Blackie Home and School Association with proceeds to go towards the Community Hall fund for that town.

The band, under direction of Arthur Dee, will be featured in a program of variety music ranging from light concert arrangements to marches and novelty numbers.

The secretary is to write the proper authorities to obtain details and costs of installing protective signal lights at the railway crossing on the highway entrance to town.

The secretary is to secure prices on applying of oil to the streets.

Peter Dawson Lodge Will Open Friday, May 1

Seventeen applications have been received so far for admittance to the new senior citizens' home — Peter Dawson Lodge. The Lodge will start admitting senior citizens on May 1.

Mrs. Alma Helgeson, matron of the lodge, has now engaged her full staff, some of whom will only be employed part time until the lodge is more fully occupied. Mrs. Sara Marsh is cook and Mrs. Lenore Ruff is assistant cook. Other employees are Mrs. Neva Speer and Mrs. Doreen Nordquist.

Any elderly person residing in Alberta and who is not suffering from a contagious or incapacitating chronic disease is eligible to make application for residence in the Lodge. There are no age or residence restrictions and no means test. Application for residence should be made to the Marquis Foundation, Vulcan, of which D. D. McQueen is secretary.

Official opening of the Peter Dawson Lodge will be held at a later date.

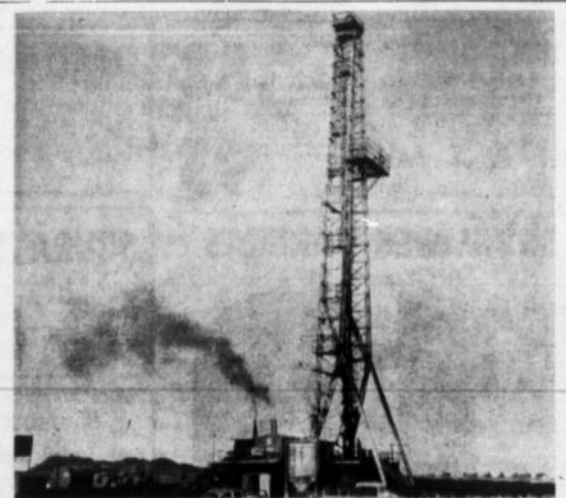

F.U.A. Workshop In Leadership Held At Vulcan

In an effort to develop its own resource personnel, the Farm Union and Co-operatives Development Association sponsored 18 senior leaders at an adult leadership course at Western Co-op College in Saskatoon last January. As a follow-up of this course a successful leadership workshop was held at the Vulcan Cafe on Friday, April 10.

Nineteen local officials, representing ten County FUA and FWUA locals, were given an outline of the structure of the Farm Union and Co-operatives Development Association (FU and CDA), the District Team and the County Team, at the morning session.

In the afternoon the emphasis was placed on leadership. Since all leaders must come from the local level the roles of the chairman and secretary were discussed. The duties and qualities of the officials were outlined and later stressed by role play.

The workshop was conducted by Mrs. Lola Lange of Claresholm and Doug Galbraith of Vulcan, who had attended the Saskatoon course.

Drilling rigs such as the one above, have been popping up in the district for several years as companies continue their search for possible wealth hidden underground. This outfit is on location just beyond the Haga brothers' farm two miles west of town. For three weeks previous it had been drilling two miles north then suddenly travellers along Connemara road found it set up and spewing diesel fuel at its new location. Barely visible in the background are the elevators of Vulcan.

From The Legislative Assembly

(By Ray Speaker, MLA)

This week I would like to discuss the steps in the passage of a bill and then report on some of the bills that have received attention in the house.

A bill is a statute in draft, and cannot become law until it has received the approval of the legislative Assembly and the consent of the Lieutenant Governor. Therefore, Parliament must have opportunities to consider all bills in general principle and detail. Every bill must pass through a number of stages.

Every bill is introduced upon Motion for Leave, specifying the title of the bill. The first stage in the passage of a bill after its introduction is called first reading. When any bill is presented by a member, the question, that this bill be now read a first time, shall be decided without debate. This is a formal stage in the passage of a bill. The short title of the bill is read by the Clerk of Assembly and the bill is ordered to be printed.

The second stage, called second reading, is the most important stage through which the bill has to pass. At this stage, the general application and desirability of the bill are discussed and debated. However, matters of detail are left to a later stage. When the underlying principle of the bill has been discussed, the Cabinet Minister introducing the bill moves, that the bill be now read a second time. At the conclusion of debate on second reading, a vote is taken. If the bill passes second reading, it moves on to the Committee of the Whole Assembly.

This is the stage at which a bill is considered in very close detail, clause by clause, line by line, and sometimes word by word. In proceedings in committee of the Whole Assembly, the preamble and title are at first postponed. Then every clause is considered in its proper order. Once this is done, the preamble and title are considered.

The Committee of the Whole Assembly goes through a bill in detail. During this debate, amendments may be moved and voted upon. However, amendments cannot be contrary to the principle of the bill approved by the Legislative Assembly during the second reading. If they are, they are ruled out of order and not considered. Generally, amendments made during the Committee stage make the bill more acceptable, and thus are more readily agreed to by the Government and members. During debate in Committee, the rules are relaxed, and a member may speak more than once to the same question. Should a clause of a bill be controversial in nature, the debate can indeed be a long one.

Following second reading, there is the report stage. However, if there are no amendments to a bill in Committee, third reading is proceeded with. In case of amended bills, the amendments are considered by the Legislature before third reading takes place. A bill is reported to the Committee of the Whole Assembly by the Chairman of the Committee, Ashley Cooper, M.L.A., Deputy Speaker, to the Speaker when he resumes the chair.

When there are no amendments, the chairman reports in the following manner: "I beg to report that the Committee has gone through the bill and directed me to report the same". If there are amendments, he reports the bill, with its amendments. Should the Committee of the Whole Assembly be unable to complete the consideration of a bill at one sitting, the chairman reports progress of the bill.

The procedure during third reading is very similar to the procedure during second reading. Debate, though permitted, is very limited. At this stage, a bill is accepted or rejected by means of a voice or a division vote or both. A division vote may be called by any three members opposed to the verbal decision on the bill, by standing. When a division is called, the votes are recorded and entered upon the Votes and Proceedings. Every member in the chamber must vote on the question when a division is called.

When a bill has successfully passed all three stages, it requires only Royal assent to make it an Act.

Each of the bills considered are printed and numbered. For example, the bill to Amend the Dental Association Act is Bill 98. This bill permits the Alberta Dental Association to set up prepaid dental service plans for individuals or groups. The association may set up such a plan through non-profit corporation controlled by the association.

Also Bill 107 is a bill to amend the Margarine Act. This bill received third reading on Friday, April 10, and permits a manufacturer to color margarine. However, though margarine will be colored, it will be either lighter or darker than the color of butter.

Bill 114 is a bill to amend the Farm Purchase Credit Act, 1963. The amendments to this Act will give county councils and municipalities a say in issuing of farm credit. The council will act in an advisory committee. A further change in the act will see credit ceiling raised from $30,000 to $40,000. This bill is also in third reading.

Bill 134, a bill respecting the insurance of crops, is now in Committee of the Whole. As briefly outlined last week, this legislation will permit the province to enter into a plan of all risk crop insurance with the federal government. This insurance plan would be operated by a Crown Corporation, with Ottawa paying 50% of administrative costs, contributing 20% towards premium cost, and giving the Province a loan of 75% for single-year losses of more than $200,000.

The Province would be divided into areas for the plan, and farmers wanting insurance must make representation to the corporation. This will be done either by petition or by public meetings. Approval by 25% of insurable persons or a group of persons owning 25% of the insurable acreage in the area will be required for the establishment of an approved area.

A contract entered into by the corporation is a continuous one, and, subject to the payment of the prescribed premium, shall be in force from year to year unless terminated by either party giving notice in writing to the other party not later than January 31 in any year. Although, premiums of a current year must be paid not later than June 15 of the current crop year. If farmers fail to pay premiums, the corporation can place a lien on the applicant's crops.

The corporation, which will be looked after by a five man board, will fix rates of premiums, and do all research work, related to crop insurance.

The government will move gradually into the program. There will be a limited number of areas the corporation will insure during the first year. The scheme will probably go into effect in 1965.

Employment in Canada's primary textile industry climbed by more than 5,000 to 79,000 during the past 30 months.

PRUNING TREES

This is the time for pruning most trees. In the early spring the branches are easy to see, there is less bleeding than later in the season and the wounds heal quickly.

Fruit trees should be pruned to allow the sunlight and air to penetrate the centre of the trees, to remove dead and diseased wood and to shape the tree. Pruning also helps to restore vigor to weakened trees and to train the trees to protect themselves against wind, sunscald and drifting snow.

The danger of sunscald can be partially overcome by protecting the southwest side of the trunk with enough growth to shade it. Even if the protecting branches are unproductive, they save white washing, wrapping or shading the tree on that side.

The pruning procedure, recommended by Alberta's Supervisor of Horticulture, P. D. McCalla, entails removing small branches ¼ to ½ of an inch above an outside bud. When two shoots, arising from closely placed buds compete for leadership, one should be removed. If they are both left, they will cause a weak crotch to develop on the main branch.

Mr. McCalla says it is very important when pruning heavy branches to remove them in such a way that the bark on the tree trunk is not torn or damaged. This can be done by first cutting the under side of the branch 8 to 10 inches from the trunk. The next incision should be made half an inch closer to the trunk on the upper side of the branch. This makes it possible to remove the branch without it splitting back to the trunk. The remaining stub can then be cut off without damaging the bark of the trunk. Branch stubs must always be removed because they are potential sources of disease and insect infestations.

Shoots or suckering which develop at the base of fruit trees should be removed, says Mr. McCalla, because they will sap the vigor of the trees.

Pine trees should be pruned in the late spring when the "Candles" are fully grown. The candles should be cut back according to the amount of growth desired. New terminal bud clusters develop at the cut from which future growth will take place.

Wound dressing should be applied to trees with pruning cuts which are larger than ¼ to 1 inch in diameter, says P. D. McCalla. Smaller wounds will heal without too much loss of sap if pruning is done properly.

Wound dressing, applied promptly, prevents loss of sap, damage to the tree by insects and the spread of disease. Asphalt water emulsion, a waterproof, non-toxic asphalt base compound, is recommended by Mr. McCalla, for sealing pruned branches and stumps. It will not injure the trees and remains elastic and water proof in all climates.

A thick coat of asphalt water emulsion, applied with a trowel or heavy brush is sufficient protection for an average sized wound. A larger wound, however, should be filled with a mastic mix of 1 volume of Portland Cement, 2 volumes of asphalt water emulsion and 3 volumes of sand.

A home-made dressing, also recommended by Mr. McCalla, can be made by mixing white lead and raw linseed oil to form a heavy paste. Another good home-made dressing consists of 8 parts, by weight, of resin and 3 parts, by weight, of raw linseed oil heated together. The wax mixture can be warmed and applied like paint after it has been thinned to the consistency of thick paint with lead-free gasoline.

Common shellac, pine tar, paraffin and grafting wax are also satisfactory for protecting tree wounds but ordinary paint should not be used because it frequently contains material which are injurious to trees.

This was the sight from the sky neighborhood of 100. Owners abandoned their cars and returned to Stavelly, Claresholm or Nanton until the road was cleared. Power lines were down for 24 hours in some areas. Other places were without telephone connections as well. Drifts piled up as high as 6' and many ranchers suffered loss of newborn calves and sheep.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR TEENAGERS

More specifically our 4-H teenagers. These young people have throughout this year reached an outstanding level of achievement. These teenage activities firmly defer the concern and criticism repeatedly voiced by public opinion.

Rally Ramblings—

At a recent 4-H Rally in Lethbridge attended by the girls clubs from the District Home Economist Districts of Lethbridge and Claresholm the girls held discussion groups on 4-H and the community. This answer concerning their pledge I thought would interest everyone. In the pledge the head is used to think of new and creative ideas to improve your club work. We use our heart — loyal, kind, honest, generous and understanding — towards others in our club and community. Our health is used to help follow the health rule thus aiding in the prevention of diseases. We must also keep up our health so we will be attentive and alert at all of our meetings at all times. Our hands can be very helpful in our club and community. We can use them to do work without being asked. Our hands help us to be creative in making our projects.

There were 150 people at this rally. Dianne Schmidt president of the Twin Butte Clothing with the ease of an expert chaired the afternoon session. Doreen Helber president of the Claresholm Food Club graciously thanked the guest speaker, Mrs. Louise Maguire, the associate supervisor of the 4-H clubs in Alberta. Marie Stenson of the Twin Butte Club on a moment's notice thanked the many sponsors.

The clubs were introduced by their secretaries, Carol Ann Opperman of Twin Butte, Nancy Sinnott and Marjorie Bonert of Pincher Creek, and Brenda Burnham of Claresholm. Twelve discussion groups were led and reported by 4-H executive members.

From the large registration of South Alberta 4-Hers two demonstrations were chosen at the Claresholm and Lethbridge eliminations. From Twin Butte, Carl Ann Opperman and Francine Marr represented this district. Their topic — Flatter Your Figure. In 6-8 minutes they pointed out the funda-mentals of nutrition and diet and then proceeded to demonstrate weight reducing exercises. Unfortunately they narrowly lost out to the team from the McNally Club of the Lethbridge District.

Speaking to Success—

Everyone is a winner in Public Speaking. Why? Their greatest asset — Freedom of speech — has been exercised. These young people are now prepared to voice their opinions in any situation.

Anyone who heard any of the 4-H public speaking this year can marvel with me at the outstanding way these young people can express themselves in front of an audience. The topics ranged from Bilingualism and World Peace through Agriculture to Smoking and Lung Cancer and Brotherhood. Dianne Schmidt of Twin Butte speaking on The Effects of Automation ended with a poignant phrase, "At the heavy table of the banquet of success, there'll be a ragged tramp who doesn't get any of the goodies". This can apply to teenagers as well but in their future there will be no ragged tramp among these 4-H young people.

Hunter Training - A Good Project

We are glad to see the Vulcan Fish & Game Association is taking an interest in sponsoring a hunter training program for this district.

Sponsored by the Fish and Wildlife Division of the Department of Lands and Forests, the course has been organized in response to demand from various organizations concerned with safe and enjoyable hunting and fishing in the province.

Conceived as a co-operative self-help program, the course will be given first to a number of instructors from various organizations. On graduation these people will teach their own members. Examinations will be administered by the Fish and Wildlife Division, and those successful will receive a badge and a hunter training manual which they may use as a ready reference. The manual contains summaries of such subjects as game laws and regulations, wildlife identification, firearm safety, first aid, survival, and even a few words of advice for the wives of hunting enthusiasts. This manual is one of the first of its type to be produced by a government body in Canada and because of limited supply it is available only to successful graduates of the course.

The provincial government should be commended for pioneering this new approach to increasing the safety and enjoyment of outdoor lovers and rural residents. And many will agree that it wouldn't be a bad idea if every holder of a hunting license had to attend this type of course before being issued a license. The appalling ignorance of many so-called hunters when it comes to knowing game regulations or how to handle a firearm is reason enough for making attendance at such a training course mandatory for all hunters. This will likely never happen, but even a voluntary training program aimed at youngsters and other new hunters is a step in the right direction and will be a worthwhile project for Fish & Game Associations throughout the province.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Editor, The Advocate:

Dear Sir,

To the person who wrote in defense of the Hutterites and separate schools, I submit the following.

Let us look at the record of separate schools to see just how well they have worked.

In regard to the Jews: Their teachings have for centuries deprived their people of a knowledge of Christ our Saviour.

The Hutterites have devised a system to satisfy their hunger for land and power by pooling their wages and resources. Their schools do not teach that God judges a man, among other things, in the way he handles the money that God has given him. He is encouraged to be a faithful steward and to make gain with his money. The parable of the talents is a good example. God deals with a man as an individual, and the responsibility can't be pushed on to some one else.

Quebec has many separate schools. An account in the April 2, issue of the Calgary Albertan shows what some of their university students have learned: Mockery of God and disrespect for the highest authority in the land. News reports tell of many acts of violence in this area which seems to go unchecked.

Is this the culture which we are asked to accept? Would you compromise with that?

Three men of God refused to compromise with Nebuchadnezzar when he commanded them to bow down before his images. We all know how God worked with them and against those who opposed Him. The same holds true to this day.

Yours truly,
County Resident.

Skeleton Discovery Recalls Mine Tragedy

Discovery during February of a human skeleton in the Travers Dam area by young boys has brought to light an unexplained set of circumstances relating to this finding and also revived a tragic incident in the history of the Lomond-Travers area.

It was in January, 1925 that G. A. Holden, a pioneer settler of the Lomond district lost his life in a coal mine accident in the same general area in which the skeleton was found. The assumption that the remains could be those of the mine victim is believed extremely doubtful. Although no actual pinpoint location of the mine and the spot where the skeleton was found has been made, those who recall the mine event are quite sure that a good distance, possibly a mile or more, separated the two locations. Examination of the skeleton leads RCMP investigators to believe it to be of an Indian, leaving the matter one of coincidence but with the passing of years, the fading memories and the fact that the building of the Travers dam and irrigation system of recent years has greatly changed the topography of the area, it leaves a hint of interest for those who still recollect the event and are familiar with the area. In February Phillip and Harold Ruggles and Danny Losey of Champion were out rabbit hunting along the Travers Dam when they discovered the skeleton partly buried in the sandstone bank on the north-east shore. Not knowing whether it was man or animal they extracted a tooth and took it home. Phillip's older brother returned to the spot for further examination and contacted RCMP. Vulcan RCMP dug away remaining dirt and brought the skeleton to the local office to try and determine the man's age, whether the bones were, or are, part of an Indian grave and why the skeleton was found in a squatting position with the knees drawn up to the chin.

Bones, possibly from an Indian jacket, were found around the bones and a piece of wire which could have been part of a headband, was circled around the jaw. The skull had been crushed according to Cpl. O'Brien of the Vulcan detachment, but any number of circumstances could have been involved; a fall from a horse down the bank or that the bank collapsed trapping the man or that he had been struck and thrown down the bank.

Vulcan dentist Dr. F. R. Schneider examined the teeth and estimated the age of the man to have been about 35 or 40 years. The teeth were well worn indicating the rough diet of earlier Indians and there had never been any dental work done.

The skeleton was sent to Lethbridge where it was to be examined further.

The other side of the story involving G. A. Holden who lost his life in a mine accident, was brought to light by Cpl. O'Brien as a result of the skeleton incident. Mr. Holden was the grandfather of Bill Turley of Vulcan who related the manner of his relative's passing to RCMP as a matter of interest. Mr. Turley also told of the other two in the trio who narrowly escaped in the mine accident. They are Alred Lewis and his son Leslie. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis now live in retirement at Vulcan while Leslie runs a store at Picture Butte.

The memory of the mine tragedy is still fresh in the mind of Mr. Lewis who, with his son, and "Dad" Holden, was digging coal about 50 feet from the entrance of the sidehill shaft of the condemned mine, when a wall of dirt and rubble "the size of a room" fell a few feet from Mr. Lewis and on top of the victim.

Through his mother, Mrs. W. H. Turley, Bill Turley borrowed an issue of the Lomond Press, an early newspaper of the thriving town, which carries complete details of the accident. It is dated February 6 and the following story is reprinted as it appeared:

"The body of Gamalie, Alpheus Holden lies buried beneath tons upon tons of sunken rock and earth in what was formerly the Stavelly mine, on the west bank of Snake Valley, about three miles below the south dam. He had accompanied A. O. Lewis to this mine for the purpose of digging a supply of coal for themselves on Wednesday, January 21, and the men were in the act of laying out their blankets about eleven o'clock at night in the mine room some thirty feet in from the entrance of the tunnel when the roof began to cave in and the falling rock instantly crushed to death Mr. Holden. Mr. Lewis managed to escape and upon returning to the mine room endeavored to recover Mr. Holden, but the caving rocks made it expedient for him to retire. It is well he did as when the mine inspector arrived from Lethbridge the entire mine and entry had caved in. Lewis rode to the A.P.P. detachment at Lomond, reporting the accident to Cpl. Vise about four o'clock in the morning. An inspection was made and the affair reported to headquarters at Lethbridge. The Inspector of mines was sent out and he consented to an attempt being made for recovery by surface excavation only, appointing Mr. Fraser, of the Fraser mines, in charge of any work that was done. Friends and neighbors and an average of 30 men a day worked all last week, removing hundreds of tons of rock and earth, but on Saturday when mine bottom was struck it was impossible to accurately gauge the bearings and directions. To penetrate further meant going up the hillside and cutting back the overhanging walls, a task almost impossible to undertake, so it was decided to go no further and to hold a formal burial service on the fatal premises.

To aggravate the situation the mine is on fire, having caught from the lantern in use by the men at the time the cave-in took place.

Rev. A. J. Law, of Lomond officiated at services held at noon on Tuesday.

Coroner Steele, M.D., visited the scene of the accident and authorized the burial permit, without the recovery of the body, in the face of existing circumstances.

The late G. A. Holden was born July 13, 1856, at Bourbon, Ill. He was married to Mayme E. Lehigh at Atwood, Ill., on Aug. 15, 1878. They resided in Illinois for several years, moving to the State of Iowa in 1882. From there they immigrated to Canada in 1909, taking up their homestead land between Lomond and Travers, and residing here since."

MR. AND MRS. G. A. HOLDEN

The burial party which conducted last rites for G. A. Holden is shown at the entrance to the old Stavelly mine in which the victim was entombed from a cave-in.

From left to right are Mildred and Evelyn Lewis, Frank Rickett, Harry Manning, the minister, Mr. Vise, Clyde Holden, Mrs. O. Baufman, Mrs. G. A. Holden, Gladys

Lewis, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Benner, Mr. Lewis and Leslie Lewis. These photos were loaned to the Advocate by the Lewis family.

EASTWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller and Dale and Mrs. Gooch, Sr., were Sunday visitors at the George Gooch home.

Valerie Doreen and Sharon Viola were the names given to the two young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Rushfeldt at the baptismal services held at the Milo United Church, April 12. Rev. Sharpe of Vulcan officiated. Mr. and Mrs. E. Rushfeldt and Mrs. K. Rolland of Delbourne attended the service.

Marion Baldwin of Calgary spent the weekend at the Baldwin home. Calgary visitors last week included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sinclair and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Rushfeldt.

All men are created equal—and endowed by their creator with an insatiable urge to become otherwise.

PROCLAIMING GOOD NEWS

The Christian Church has the message of good news for the world; for all the people who live in this world of trouble and doubt and insecurity. It is the good news that God has acted in Jesus Christ to reveal Himself to men.

The mistake some of us make, and one we must consciously seek to avoid, is thinking and acting as though proclaiming the gospel means pulpitering. Of course it means preaching — that's what preaching is — the proclamation of the good news. But it means more than sermonizing. It means more than teaching about Jesus in the church and Sunday School. It means more than singing hymns and worshipping together on Sunday. The gospel is proclaimed in all these ways but far more significantly by the quality of our daily lives.

Those who really believe the good news about God's love and care, whose lives have been so touched by the spirit of Christ as to be made whole and wholesome; they are the best witnesses and the best proclaimers of the gospel.

Nothing can refute the life of a godly man who shares his life with others.

COUNTY CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL HI-LITES

Centuries ago mathematics was regarded as a part of magic, and at first only priests and medicine men were allowed to use it. Later it was a part of the stock-in-trade of astrologers and alchemists. Finally, four centuries ago, with the birth of the present scientific method of investigation, mathematics became an integral part of the education of all men of science. The fact that these men appreciated the interdependence of science and mathematics is indicated by a rather famous statement penned by the astronomer, Kepler: "The laws of nature are but the mathematical thoughts of God".

But knowledge of mathematics is no longer a possession of the selected few. Nearly all of us have studied the subject and use daily the techniques of the discipline. Those who engage in engineering or similar pursuits find calculus, trigonometry, and other branches of higher mathematics among the essential tools of the trade. The practical man must have a knowledge of the basic principles of mathematics in order that he may fully understand their application in his work.

Mathematics has become vital to industry and business and undoubtedly will play an increasingly prominent part in the future.

Thus, in order to prepare students for the challenges that lie ahead, a varied mathematical program is offered in the high school. Mathematics 10, 20, 30 and 31 are designed to meet the needs of the students who are following the academic pattern. Students in the commercial pattern should find Mathematics 11 and 21 beneficial while Mathematics 12, 22 and 32 are designed for students in the vocational pattern.

$5.00 License Required For House Trailers

House trailers in the Province of Alberta have never been licensed, which has been a problem to travellers who venture outside the provincial boundaries, as most jurisdictions do have a trailer license of some kind. To remedy this situation, new regulations will come into effect on May 1, that provide for a $5.00 license for trailers. The trailer plate may be changed from one trailer to another, providing they are owned by the one person. Farm trailers are exempt, when being used in connection with a farm operation, and are not conveying goods to or from market. Trailers used to move buildings are also exempt.

Trailers are limited to a width of 8 feet, with the exception of house trailers, which can be 10 feet in width, and the height cannot exceed 150 inches. The overall length of the unit, including the car or truck being used to tow the trailer, cannot exceed 60 feet. Only one trailer can be towed at one time.

The general definition of trailer is: A vehicle so designed that it may be attached to or drawn by a motor vehicle or tractor and intended to transport persons or property and shall also include any trailer which is designed, constructed and equipped as a dwelling place, living abode or sleeping place, either permanently or temporarily, but does not include road building machinery.

The designations transport persons, transport property, dwelling place, living abode, sleeping place now means that holiday trailers, tenting trailers, utility trailers, boat trailers and horse trailers are included and subject to licensing.

Plates are to be attached to rear of trailer. All trailers require two means attachment to the towing vehicle, so the failure of one will not permit the trailer to become detached.

If your trailer including the load weighs more than 50% of the towing vehicle's weight, brakes are required. (18 foot and over holiday trailers usually equal this weight but normally are equipped with brakes at the factory.)

Trailers wider than 80 inches require as near the top as practical, one amber clearance light on each side of the front, and one red clearance light on each side of the rear. Two tail lamps are required. A white light is required to illuminate the license plate. All these lights shall be hooked up so they are on when the tow vehicle lights are on. Two reflectors also are required at extreme edges of the rear of the trailer.

In addition to lights required by boat trailers (tail lamps license lamp and reflectors) if the boat being carried overhangs the rear of the trailer, the boat will require reflectors in order to reflect lights of overtaking vehicles.

Finally no person shall occupy or permit other persons to occupy a trailer designed, constructed or equipped as a dwelling house, living abode or sleeping place, while such trailer is being moved in a highway.

This is probably one of the roughest ways to find out why your car won't start after an all-night storm. Anyway John Cornell of Redcliff thought it was when he discovered his car motor clogged with snow after April 5 storm in Claresholm. It was just one of many similar incidents that plagued drivers in southern Alberta.

Prize pelts owned by Wilf Taylor of Claresholm were trapped on property owned by Gordon Burton and Dewey Blake of Nanton. There are 26 beaver pelts and two lynx shown above. The top quality beaver hides range in size up to 30"x35" which is classed as a "blanket." The smallest are called kits. Next, they are judged medium, large and extra large. The lynx were caught east of Stavely and west of Nanton. One was chased up a tree and the other was shot on sight. Open season is from Nov. 1 to May 1, but the best time to get the largest and richest pelts is in January. There are approximately seven trappers in the Claresholm area. Before going to Claresholm, Mr. Taylor was park warden at Banff and Yoho from 1950 to 1956. —Claresholm Local Press.
